ROWDY STUDENTS IN ROME DEMONSTRATE AGAINST GT. BRITAIN

Driven Away From British Embassy by Gendarmes—Mussolini Pledges Implacable Resistance to Sanctions—Organizing Italy to Resist—Report 3,500 Ethiopian Casualties

ROME, Oct. 31 (P)—Boisterous bands of students threatened establishments which they believed to be British tonight as Benito Mussolini invoked a state of "economic siege" for all Italy. After howling "Down with England" in a demonstration before the British Embassy until gendarmes drove them away, the students descended after dark on business and amusement places.

They smashed glass, looted effigies of Emperor Haile Selassie and shouted against "foreigners" until police dispersed them. The students started for the British Consulate, but police were there ahead of them and chased them away.

WANT NO FOREIGNERS
Glass in a picture of vaudeville girls at the "Florida" dance hall, where the performers are foreigners, was smashed, and the youths cried: "We don't want foreigners!" Their claw-hammer coats and cocked hats patrolled the vicinity of the British Embassy, scene of a forenoon demonstration. Reserves were held in readiness for emergency and officers were stationed at strategic points to signal the approach of demonstrators.

The Embassy demonstration was started by students marching home after hearing 11 Duce's denunciation of sanctions at the inauguration of the new University of Rome.

PLEDGES RESISTANCE
11 Duce pledged "implacable resistance" to sanctions. At the same time he rushed his war in Ethiopia, sent another shipment of troops to Africa and ordered a slight reduction in food prices, effective tomorrow.

Next week, butcher shops throughout the country will begin Tuesday closings. On Wednesday they will sell no beef, pork or veal. To the students, Mussolini shouted: "In the face of economic siege for which the entire civilized world should have a sense of supreme indignation."

REFUNDING IS CONTEMPLATED

Municipal Agreements Expected to Be Laid Before Legislature

While no effort will be made by the Government to interfere with present commission control of municipal areas under Provincial direction in British Columbia, further refunding agreements being negotiated by individual municipalities with their bondholders will be placed before the Legislature in the Spring, Hon. A. W. Gray said yesterday.

At least two centres will have refunding schemes to lay before the House, it is now suggested. The names of these corporations were not mentioned.

LEGISLATION

Mr. Gray said he expected introduction also of annual amendments to the British Columbia Municipal Act, though what form these changes will take cannot be known until after the Government has met municipal representatives in committee review at the session.

The present machinery by which municipal areas pass under control of Provincial commissionerships will not be changed, Mr. Gray intimated. As far as may be seen at present there will be no early solution of the problems of the several centres under commissions.

What the Government may be prepared to do for British Columbia municipalities as the most difficult point in the whole sphere of Provincial-municipal relations.

JIMMY WALKER WELCOMED BACK

Men and Women Hurling Down Gangway When Ex-Mayor Leaves Ship

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Arid tumultuous and riotous scenes of welcome by the Broadway faithful, James J. Walker, strangely nervous and uncertain, came back from exile today to the town he deserted under fire three years ago.

The former mayor and his wife narrowly escaped injury as they stepped from the gangplank to the pier. So great was the pressure of the crowd behind them that the straining arms of seamen gave way and a score of men and women were hurled down the gangway steps to the pier floor. None, apparently, was seriously injured.

EARTHQUAKE HITS HELENA

Damage Results From Another Shock—Two Men Killed

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 31 (P)—Devastating earthquakes struck Helena again today, killing two persons, injuring scores and inflicting additional damage estimated by City Engineer Oscar Baarsco at $1,000,000.

To the estimated $3,000,000 damage already wrought by the nineteen previous shocks of shaking tremors, the damage to weakened homes and business buildings today saw the toll creep toward the $5,000,000 mark as the quakes continued to jolt the capital city.

TWO MORE DEATHS
Two deaths increased the list of quake victims to seven, five having died previously, two from injuries and three from nervous shock.

Written on the expanding list of dead were the names of Ed O'Brien, twenty-seven, of Salt Lake City, fatally injured shortly before noon when a falling smokestack caught him as it crashed into a brewery where he was doing repair work, and Vincent Kennedy, about twenty-four, also of Salt Lake City, who was killed under plunging smokestack debris.

Of the scores hurt in the recurrent tremors, only a half-dozen were believed to have suffered serious injuries.

REMAIN IN BUILDINGS

Instead of dashing to the streets to be hurled to the ground by falling corners, bricks and porches, those suffering the brunt of the second disaster today remained inside buildings until the tempestuous earth had settled down.

Striking with a rumble shortly before noon, the severe tremor, perhaps more damaging than the rolling one of October 18, shook the city for nineteen seconds, and sent its quiver through mountainous Western Montana where it rumbled under Butte, Great Falls and Anaconda.

The force of the earth's movement was felt as far west as Spokane, Wash., and extended north into Canada at Calgary and Lethbridge, Alta. Only slight, however, was the force felt outside this stricken capital city.

RECOMMENDS GAS

And Not Bullets

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (P)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the United States Bureau of Investigation, recommends that a dose of gas be used in the case of the "criminal," he said. Firearms require a certain amount of technical skill in operation, whereas a gas gun can be used effectively with little practice.

Government Plans Legislative Move On Land Policies

Hon. A. W. Gray Forecasts Revision of Some Classes of Provincial Agreements, With Idea of Reducing Burden—Drive on Land Sales

LEGISLATIVE action to review the whole position of the Province in its capacity as a land owner, with reference to commitments under the Land Settlement Board and otherwise, is intended at the next session of the British Columbia Legislature, Hon. A. W. Gray intimated yesterday.

The Minister of Lands said revision was intended of the position of the Province in some classes of agreements from the past and upon which accumulation of charges for arrears and interest have been growing. The purpose of revision, he said, would be to lighten the charges where this may be found possible.

Party Leaders in Election Campaign

Thirty-Five Below Zero Is Recorded in Crow's Nest

CALGARY, Oct. 31 (P)—Blizzard in Crow's Nest Pass district today held the cold weather record. It reported, unofficially, a temperature of thirty-five below zero early today.

STABLES AFIRE AT LANDSDOWNE

Flames, Fanned by Wind, Consuming Lulu Island Barns

RICHMOND, B.C., Nov. 1 (P)—The stables at Landsdowne Park race track were on fire early today. Richmond fire-fighters asked for the assistance of a pump from Vancouver.

An east wind was blowing the flames strongly along the long line of stables of the Lulu Island track at 2 a.m. The fire had been burning for more than an hour and it was believed there was little chance of saving the burning buildings.

At 2 a.m. telephone communication with Landsdowne Park was disrupted, and it was presumed that the fire had spread across the road and burned poles and cables in the vicinity.

W. J. PATTERSON MADE PREMIER

Saskatchewan Minister of Resources to Succeed Hon. J. G. Gardener

REGINA, Oct. 31 (P)—Hon. W. J. Patterson, Minister of Natural Resources and Telephones, was unanimously chosen late this afternoon by the Saskatchewan Liberal party caucus to succeed Hon. James G. Gardener, the new Liberal Minister of Agriculture, as Premier of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Patterson was born in Grenfell, Sask. May 13, 1886, entered politics as member of the Legislature in 1921, retaining his seat since then. He has been a member of the Cabinet since 1925. He is unmarried.

IS FORMER BANKER

The new Premier was educated in his home town and in 1902 entered service with the Dominion Bank there, remaining in the banking business until 1908, retiring as manager. Then entered employ of the Saskatchewan Government as superintendent of rural telephones, resigning to go overseas with the Canadian Light Horse, and was wounded in action in 1918. He returned home the next year, and opened up his general insurance office in Windhorst.

No Major Damage Results From Shocks But Thousands Are Awakened From Slumbers—Centre Believed to Be in New York State—One House Collapses

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (P)—An earthquake shook Canada today with a rumbling shock from the head of the Great Lakes to the Bay of Fundy. Buildings were shaken, dishes knocked from tables and thousands of persons frightened so badly they rushed into the streets during the tremor that lasted from fifteen seconds in some areas to a minute or more in others.

Damage was almost negligible in Canada, but a house caved in at Stratford, N.Y., and street signs fell in the street in Pittsburgh, N.Y. Two seismograph instruments at the Dominion Observatory in Ottawa were broken by the quakes. Telephone communication in Central Ottawa was discontinued for a time after the shocks, but about 1:05.

BRICK WALLS CRACKED
Slight damage was caused at Simcoe, Ont., where brick walls in several buildings cracked. Simcoe is sixty miles southwest of Toronto and close to the Lake Erie shore.

However, first reports from Windsor, about 220 miles southwest of Toronto, indicated the shock there continued on Page 3, Column 6

ASSASSIN SHOTS DOWN PREMIER WANG AT NANKING

Residents Leave Chapei District Fearing Outbreak

SHANGHAI, Nov. 1 (P)—Military demonstrations and Chinese defence preparations today intensified public apprehension in the Shanghai area. Some of the more nervous residents quitted the Chapei district, a native section, shelled by the Japanese in 1932.

FOUND DYING FROM POISON

Widow Succumbs on Way To Hospital—Lived Alone On Farm

BREMINGTON, Wash., Oct. 31 (P)—Sheriff Rush Blankenship detained one man for questioning and sought two others tonight after neighbors found Mrs. Hilda Mantila, fifty-two, widow, dying of poison in her locked and ransacked farm home.

Mrs. Mantila died on the way to a hospital an hour after she was discovered unconscious on her bed. Deputy Sheriff Jack Krueger said someone apparently forced Mrs. Mantila to drink a poisonous acid. Her face, chest and arms were acid burned, and officers said they found a green glass tumbler containing some of the poison in the kitchen.

ON ISOLATED FARM
Mrs. Mantila reportedly well-to-do, lived on an isolated farm between Vinland and Brilabak, on the east side of Hood Canal. Her husband died four years ago and she had been in the neighborhood ever since. She leaves a son, Arthur Mantila, Kelchikan, Alaska. A stepdaughter, Mrs. Ida Lane Seattle, was en route to the farm home today.

The sheriff said the woman's plight was discovered about noon by Mrs. Richard Larkness and Ida Peterson. The Larknesses said they copped by peering through a crack in the door to see if Mrs. Mantila was on a shopping trip to Bremington, but found the curtains drawn, the doors locked and the keys thrust into the keyhole, from the outside.

Abolition Of Relief Is Planned

Of Relief Is Planned

The Provincial Government is planning to bring in legislation at the next session of the House to abolish unemployment relief as it is not considering any action regarding the railways.

This important intimation came as a result of a query from Alderman Archie Wills to the City Council yesterday afternoon.

The Mayor replied that the number on relief was decreasing, but that a plan was being evolved by the Government that would result in the abolition of unemployment relief next year.

MAYOR IS NOMINATED

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31 (P)—Prominent Laborer Mayor John Queen again will be the Independent Labor party's candidate for mayor in Winnipeg's civic election next month. He was nominated unanimously at a party meeting.

TO LEAVE NEXT WEEK

The new high commissioner, who has been prominent in Liberal activities since his retirement from the Government service in 1930, was in Ottawa today.

Meeting the wishes of the Canadian Government, which desires to have discussions held with the British Administration on a number of important matters without delay, Mr. Massey has consented to leave for London toward the end of next week, probably Friday, although the early departure will be at some personal inconvenience to himself. He will arrive in England about the time the British elections conclude.

FLYERS FOUD DEAD IN WRECKED PLANE

BARABOO, Wis., Oct. 31 (AP)—John North and Marvin Padley, flyers who had been missing since Sunday when their plane took off from Lake Delton, Wis., were found dead today in the wreckage of their craft on the Baraboo Bluffs, about five miles south of here.

Rupture in Sino-Japanese Relations May Be Result

NANKING, China, Nov. 1 (P)—A Chinese assassin shot Premier Wang Chung Wei and three other officials today. The assailant was shot and killed a few moments later in the resulting confusion. The fifty-year-old Premier and his right-hand man, Tseng Chun Min, vice minister for railways, were seriously wounded. The two men wounded were Chang Chi, former president of the Judicial Yuan, and Kan Kai Kuang, chief of the political bureau of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters and vice minister of the interior.

FORMER Canadian Minister to the United States, last night was appointed High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, succeeding Hon. G. H. Ferguson, resigned.

TWO BOARDS TO BE UNCHANGED

Plans No Action Regarding C.N.R. Trustees or Radio Commission

OTTAWA, Oct. 31 (P)—One of the Canadian National Railway's two boards of trustees, the National Railway Board, will continue as usual with the Liberal Government in office. It was learned from a reliable source today that the Government is as far as it is concerned, not considering any action regarding the railways.

Under the law as it stands the Government has no control over the board of trustees, which was set up in 1917. C. P. Fuller, former chairman of the board, called on members of the Cabinet to clarify and it is understood no suggestions were made to him and no discussion of policy took place. He was subsequently asked to carry on as usual and operate the railway in accordance with the law.

A similar attitude is being taken by the new minister regarding the Canadian Radio Commission. This body also operates under an act of Parliament and it is not directly responsible to the Government.

CIVIC AUDITORIUM PROJECT DEFEATED AS RELIEF SCHEME

Council Turns Down Plan as Part of List to Be Approved by Provincial Government, Which Is Advancing $100,000 Loan to City

VICTORIA'S proposed civic auditorium met its first defeat at yesterday's meeting of the City Council, when a move to have it included in the list of projects to be presented to the Provincial Government for approval was defeated. Alderman Archie Wills sponsored the motion, but failed to get support. A further effort will be made to secure consideration of the proposal.

After nearly an hour of futile debating, the council finally decided to submit an amended list of projects to the Provincial Government for its approval. The scheme outlined will cost approximately $350,000, which is $250,000 more than the Provincial Government is loaning the city for relief work. However, the Government will be asked to endorse the list on the understanding that the council will proceed with the works it finally determines are the most essential.

No agreement was reached yesterday.

LITTLE DAMAGE ON HALLOWE'EN

Fire Department Busy With Fifteen Calls—Hydrants Are Turned on

Fire and water played a big part in the Halloween celebration here today.

From 10:00 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight, the fire department was busy with fifteen calls. The hydrants were turned on and the streets were flooded before firemen closed the hydrants. The damage, however, was slight.

WOMAN INJURED

Only one accident was reported to police today. A woman attempting to cross Cook Street at Kings Road was knocked down by an automobile, but was not seriously injured.

During the early part of the evening, police headquarters received a number of complaints, but they were mostly of a minor nature such as breaking locks on a vegetable market window or two and the loss of garbage cans and pails. The downtown section was quiet, except for the usual din of exploding firecrackers and bonfires.

RADIO DANGEROUS TO GERMAN EARS

Seven Prison Sentences Imposed on Presumed Traitorous Listeners To Moscow Broadcast

BERLIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Seven prison sentences today brought home to Germans the danger that lurks in the loudspeaker when it turns on Moscow.

Two men in Wilhelmshaven were sentenced to four years in prison and five years loss of citizenship for discussing politics while listening to a Moscow broadcast, and five friends who also listened received lesser terms.

All seven were charged with "plotting high treason." Some authorities said were Communists.

The Nazis in their two and one-half years in power have waged a constant battle against Moscow broadcasting.

DEPICTS HOW TAX DOLLAR IS DIVIDED

Victoria Rotarians Hear of Method of Appropriating City Revenues

MAYOR IS IN FAVOR OF SOUND FINANCING

Members of the Rotary Club were told by Mayor David Leeming at yesterday's luncheon of the organization in the Empress Hotel, where the tax dollar goes in Victoria.

In presenting the situation, His Worship did not gloss matters. At the same time he pointed out that bond dealers throughout the Dominion were agreed that Victoria's reputation stood as high if not higher than the best of Western cities. The average interest paid on its debt, he said, was 4.75 per cent, which was a lower rate than most Eastern cities paid.

This was accounted for from the fact that earlier loans of the city were obtained in London, for the most part at a low rate. Recent borrowings for refunding, etc., since 1932, represented interest bearing rates of 6 per cent or more.

The mayor said that never in its history had Victoria suggested anything like "phony" money in connection with its financing. Reductions in the assessment of lands had been necessary, and there had been reductions in the Government grants under various headings of late years, but the city was figuratively "keeping its feet on the ground."

WILL FACE SITUATION
If assistance from the Government could not be obtained, the city would simply have to "grin and bear it," stated Mayor Leeming. Victoria, he felt, would follow its reputation and keep away from any suggestion of any "phony" money, ways of meeting the situation.

Dealing with the distribution of the tax dollar in city financing, the speaker pointed out that the percentages given were based on the gross requirements of $3,000,000, less the sum of $240,000 in sinking fund requirements, which had not been paid owing to the situation which faced the council.

The tax dollar, Mayor Leeming said, when analyzed, showed the following percentages under headings: Debt, 37.34; schools, 18.75; police, 3.8; fire department, 5.71; library, 1.2; administration, 4.6; parks, 2.5; street lighting, 1.2; social services, 13.2; public works, 5.6; water, 2.5; and miscellaneous, 3.2.

FAVORS CIVIC POLICE

Dealing with the subject of policing, the mayor referred to the situation sometimes heard to have the Provincial Government take over the policing by the provincial body. This would mean greater cost in policing the city, he asserted. The policing of the city was conducted very economically now.

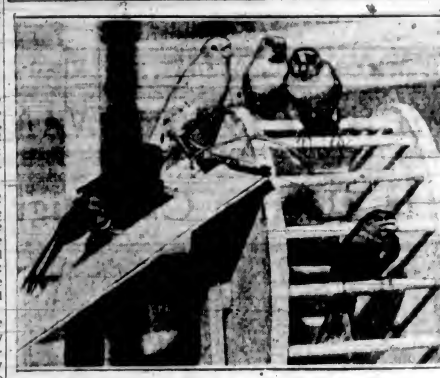

Reverting to the standing of the city in a financial way and its ability to face the future, His Worship recalled that along about 1930 the city was in the position of being able to pay off from $450,000 to $500,000 of the debt yearly. Since then the revenues had been cut down so that it was difficult to meet the requirements. Yet in spite of this, there was the statement of the bond dealers throughout the Dominion that no other city in Western Canada was doing as well as Victoria.

The debt of the city had increased as a result of the situation faced. In spite of this, Victoria had sufficient in the sinking funds to take care of all bonded indebtedness coming due.

New burdens had been thrust upon the city and revenues that were formerly turned over to it from the Government were cut down. There had been cuts in the liquor profits, the part-milk collections and the school grants had been cut among other reductions made, said Mayor Leeming. In this line of new burdens placed on the city and cuts made by the Government, there was a reduction of some $345,000 in revenues.

In introducing the Mayor, C. H. French, chairman of the community service committee of the Rotary Club, expressed his delight at the ready way in which the Mayor had agreed to address the club.

Has Acrobatic Canaries

Canaries, owned by Mrs. Etta Haden, of Los Angeles, have been trained as acrobats by their owner. It took two years to teach the canaries the complicated tricks which they perform on equipment designed by Mrs. Haden and constructed by her husband, W. F. Haden. Her only recipe for training canaries is "patience," Mrs. Haden says. Photo shows the trained birds on their acrobatic apparatus.

Since moving to Toronto, Mr. Davidge passed through Victoria several times on his way to Japan, where he went on buying trips for the Toronto firm.

SEEKS TO CLEAR UP OLD ESTATE

Money in Bank Here Since 1885 May Be Paid Over to Heirs On Proper Proof

An application in the Supreme Court yesterday to Mr. Justice Fisher seeks to trace up an account which has been lying in the bank as a trust account since 1885. The application was made by H. J. Davis, who seeks to clear up an estate for parties who resided in Washington State when the Mayor had agreed to address the club.

The funds in the bank were on deposit for the intervening time since 1885 in the name of Drake Jackson & Heilmann, one of the old-time legal firms of the city which is not now in existence. The amount of the original trust fund deposited was $800. With the interest now accruing, this sum has reached about $1,500.

The deposit is in the name of M. A. Laumeister. The application made by Mr. Davis is in the name of the heirs.

The late M. A. Laumeister resided here in early times and occupied land which now embraces a part of the exhibition grounds in Oak Bay.

Mr. Justice Fisher asked that Mr. Davis obtain further particulars respecting the matter before making an order as to the disposition of the estate.

SAYS AUSTRALIAN WOOL IN DEMAND

Visitor From New South Wales Enjoys Profitable Business as Sheep Grazier

Australian wool is finding a ready market in various parts of the world, making the sheep-raising business a profitable one, stated H. C. Stevenson, a large sheep grazer, of New South Wales, at the Empress Hotel, last night. He is accompanied by his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Savage, of Sydney, Australia.

The visitors left Australia early last Spring and enjoyed an interesting tour through Spain and France before reaching London to participate in the Silver Jubilee celebrations. Mr. Stevenson spoke enthusiastically of the great exhibition of loyalty to the King that was shown by the British people. "It made your spine tingle," he said.

From here they will go to San Francisco, where they will sail for Australia.

Wanted to Marry Mother-in-Law

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 31.—Because Massachusetts law says a man cannot marry his wife's mother, even when the wife has died, Joseph Symes, forty-two, and Mrs. Harriet Saxon, sixty-two, abandoned wedding plans today.

By motor car the four toured England and Scotland. "It was just like a lovely party," said the bride, Mrs. Stevenson declared.

Turning again to the Silver Jubilee celebrations, Mr. Stevenson spoke enthusiastically of the great exhibition of loyalty to the King that was shown by the British people. "It made your spine tingle," he said.

From here they will go to San Francisco, where they will sail for Australia.

GREAT TOURIST YEAR ENJOYED

Honolulu Hotel Owner Says Temperature Sometimes "Two Below"

Many Victorians while shivering from the cold these last few days have visioned the warm, sandy beaches of the Hawaiian Islands. But few of them know that tropical islands occasionally have weather that is "two below."

The average summer temperature is 80 degrees above, while in Winter the mercury hovers around 70 degrees, according to Clifford Kimball, managing owner of the Halekulani Hotel and bungalows at Waikiki Beach, who is staying a few days at the Empress Hotel.

When the temperature drops to 78 degrees in Summer or 68 degrees in Winter, the inhabitants of the islands become disturbed and remark to each other that "it's two below."

Whether the temperature is "low" or not, the tropical islands are attracting more and more tourists, and this Summer was the greatest experienced by Mr. Kimball in eighteen years, he stated.

"We are enjoying, every year, a very hot Victoria and Vancouver trade," Mr. Kimball added.

Although the cold weather he has encountered here is foreign to him, he said he was enjoying the visit, as he thought it was doing him some good.

BOMBERS BLAST POLICE STATION

The Twelfth Street station was most seriously damaged, a wall being blasted open and several windows smashed. A pedestrian was reported out by flying glass. Damage to the other station was said to be small.

Governor Is Delayed by Rough Seas

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—The Government tonight announced new arrangements for the reception of Saturday, Quebec, for Baron Tweedsmuir, Governor-General designate, whose arrival has been delayed by bad weather at sea.

The swearing-in ceremony, scheduled originally for Saturday morning, has been postponed. It has been postponed to the evening, probably about 8:30 p.m. The liner Duchess of Richmond, bearing the party, is expected to dock noon after 6 o'clock, instead of 8 a.m.

Urge Convention Be Held to Name Leader of Party

Saanich Ward Four Conservative Association, at its annual meeting last night, passed a resolution urging upon the British Columbia Conservative Association to call a convention for the purpose of choosing a leader.

Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett was chosen honorary president, and P. A. H. Pink was re-elected president. Other officers named were: Henry Holmes, vice-president; F. P. Patt, secretary-treasurer; Arthur Ley, F. Holyoake, Ed. Rowland and Mrs. Pink, members of the executive.

DIES OF STARVATION

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The Ling-shan Park Zoo's ten-day-old orangutan died today of starvation. His mother, Nancy, was unable to feed her young one and she refused to permit keepers to take the baby orang from her, thus preventing artificial feeding.

Councillors in Brief Debate on Barnyard Smells

For fifteen minutes last night the Saanich Council and an interviewer discussed barnyard odors.

J. W. Bell, on behalf of Miss L. Stephenson, urged the council to postpone its decision on closing the Malahat Fox Farm, owned by Miss Stephenson.

The council had been urged by ratepayers of Ward One and Four in a petition, and Dr. David Berman, medical health officer, and J. G. Little, building inspector, to close the farm.

The main protest of the petitioners was the smell nuisance. Mr. Bell claimed that the fox farm smell was no worse than the odors from chicken houses and cow barns.

Some of the council protested one or the other was worse. Reeve William Crouch ended the debate with a per: "It's all a matter of smell."

No action was taken pending inspection of the forty-seven pen farm by councillors.

PEAT TO MAKE NEW ONTARIO INDUSTRY

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—Peat-bogs of Western Ontario may provide a new industry for the province, it appeared today following an announcement the Government is to conduct a survey of the fuel resources, with a view to assisting in their development.

Peat, it is believed, could be marketed at between 85 and 87 a ton.

Plans Completed By Kinsmen Club For Dinner Dance

Final plans were made by the Kinsmen Club last night at dinner in the Empress Hotel for "ladies' night" to be held November 14 in the Empress Hotel grill. Dinner will be held at 7 o'clock, after which dancing will be enjoyed.

A lengthy discussion was conducted by members regarding their plans for spreading Christmas cheer. Activities of the other service clubs of the city were reviewed by Walter Miles, editor of Kin, official organ of the Kinsmen Club.

No Great Armament Race for Britain Is Baldwin's Promise

Prime Minister Answers Opposition Charges in Speech to Peace Society—Election Campaign in Full Swing Throughout Great Britain

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Government leaders place international affairs well to the front as their electoral offensive rolls forward, speeded by airplanes and traveling sound trucks.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, in the friendship between Great Britain and Italy, "splendid isolation," in a speech to the Peace Society, he answered opposition charges, by promising "I give you my word there will not be great armaments here."

APPEAL TO ITALY
Appealing to Italy for co-operation, with the League of Nations, to restore peace in Africa, the Prime Minister declared: "The dispute between the League and Italy is real, but it is no more real than the friendship between Great Britain and Italy."

In his own constituency of Bevelly, Mr. Baldwin now has an opponent, Sir Edward Murray, who carries the standard of the United Kingdom Party and the slogan, "Baldwin must go." This party advocates high wages, high tariffs and Imperial preference.

The Conservative organization in Warwick and Leamington is appealing to the Labor Party not to run a candidate against Anthony Eden, arguing that, "in view of his magnificent work at Geneva, he should not be forced to fight an election."

TRAVEL BY PLANE

Anxious to reach as many voters as possible in the last two weeks of the campaign, Conservative headquarters announced today that airplanes will be used to carry speakers from one end of the country to the other. Many others have placed their planes at the disposal of the party.

Trucks equipped with both loud speakers and moving picture apparatus are already touring the country.

Speakers are appearing by the thousand in every city and town. One of the most popular displays is a typical British workman with arm outstretched, inviting the voter to support the National Government.

The Labor Party is specializing in anti-war posters—one of a baby in a gas mask and another of a skeleton draped in black.

NO ARMAMENTS RACE
Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, joins the Prime Minister in denying that Britain is launching a new armaments race. British policy, he declared, is one of "prudent realism."

"Don't you believe that when they say we have neglected our army and navy," counters former Premier David Lloyd George. "As if nothing had been done! We are spending more than they are spending in France or Japan or in Italy before the war."

At Aberdeen, Home Secretary Sir John Simon hinted that Britain's naval forces in the Mediterranean are all that discourage Italy from armed resistance to economic sanctions applied by members of the League of Nations.

With 550 candidates in the field, approximately the same number as the Government, the Labor Party is concentrating on the 235 seats it lost in the landslide of 1931. In most constituencies it is a straight two-party fight. The total number of candidates now approximates 1,300, of which 615 will form the next House of Commons.

RESULT OF VOTE NOT KNOWN YET

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—Result of the Federal election in Vancouver-Burrard, where Arnold Webster, C.P., is leading Mayor G. G. McGee, Liberal, by two votes, with only four ballots from Garrett still to arrive, will not be known until November 6. Returning Officer R. G. Phipps announced today.

The deputy returning officer at Garrett on election night advised Mr. Phipps he had four absentee ballots, three marked for Webster and one for McGee.

APPOINTMENT IS CONFIRMED

Contentious Matter—Settled After Heated Words Are Exchanged

Appointment of Matthew McConnell to the post of secretary to the chief was finally settled at yesterday's meeting of the City Council. But not before warm words had been exchanged between Alderman Andrew McGavin and other members of the council.

Mayor David Leith, D. A. MacDonald, comptroller, and H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, brought in a report in which they expressed the opinion that the appointment was valid and should stand, and gave their reasons for it, which included a survey of the procedure leading up to the appointment and legal points brought out by Alderman McGavin in connection with the by-law governing appointments.

OPPOSERS REPORT
Alderman McGavin, however, could not agree with the report, and said so in no uncertain terms, and concluded his remarks by stating that Mr. Farmer, a member of the permanent staff, should have been given the position, received much less than the new man would receive, even though he had a family to keep and was a taxpayer. Alderman McGavin also pointed out that Mr. Farmer was a brilliant young man, having graduated from high school at the age of thirteen.

"It is an unjust appointment, and there has been some pull somewhere," he declared.

Alderman T. W. Hawkins jumped to his feet to refute the charge, and stated he had been approached by no one, and considered the various applications on their merits.

Alderman Walter Luney, as chairman of the fire wardens, politely told Alderman McGavin he was "all wet."

This ended the dispute and the report was adopted.

ahame, in the face of an experiment which is being made today for the first time against the Italian position, it is to be said that we shall present the most implacable resistance in the firmest of our decisions."

PREPARE FOR DISCIPLINE
Italy organized itself for the simple life. Housewives prepared for a house-to-house discipline.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi left tonight for Geneva, where the League committee of fifty-two will meet tomorrow, but Government sources said he carried no Italian peace proposals.

(Copyright, 1935, by HAVAS NEWS ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 31 (CP, Havas).—A bloody encounter in which 3,500 Ethiopian warriors were killed and wounded was reported by a reliable source here tonight.

The battle took place on the southern front, where a desperate (tribal) force hurled itself into the devastating fire of solidly entrenched Italian troops near Walwal.

COMMANDER KILLED
Dedjazmach Haptmikael, commander of the Ethiopian army in the area, was among the slain, dispatches said.

Heavy fighting also was reported at several other points in Ogaden Province. Outnumbering the Italians two to one, 300,000 Ethiopians troops commanded by Ras Desta Demtu and Ras Nasibu, were suffering losses due to lack of modern equipment, according to information reaching here.

A number of Ethiopian attacks were reported on fortified Italian positions in defiance of Emperor Haile Selassie's orders to his generals not to dissipate their strength in locked combat.

The Fascist army brought tanks and field artillery into play in its drive on the tribesmen, it was learned.

GLOOM OVER CAPITAL
Reports of the reverses suffered in the south-east cast a pall of gloom over this capital tonight.

Italian troops have long been entrenched at Walwal, it was said. Experts said no point in Ogaden Province was more impregnable. A detachment of 200 Italian soldiers had fallen on an Italian supply column under cover of darkness and had slain fifteen Fascist guards. Twenty-five camels were reported captured.

"PEACE WILL BE MADE"
PARIS, Oct. 31 (AP)—Premier Laval was reported tonight to be studying a cool-British reaction to preliminary overtures for Italo-Ethiopian peace. But when he left here for the meeting of the committee of fifty-two nations at Geneva, he asserted, "peace will be made."

GOVERNMENT PLANS LEGISLATIVE MOVE

tion, the Government yesterday re-priced some thirty lots in the Sumas dyking area, at values ranging from $40 to $90 an acre, and authorized a committee set up under the dyking commissioner to sell these lands at the newly-specified figures.

An advertising campaign, not to exceed $500 in cost, was authorized in connection with the Sumas properties.

Auction sales of reverted properties have been omitted by the Province in the last few years, a policy followed again this year in abandonment of the annual tax sale which would have been held this month.

PRIZE PETS TO BE ON DISPLAY

Tourist Trade Association
Fair Set for Armories,
December 4 to 7

Prizes to be awarded children selling the "most tickets to the Tourist Trade Association Association Winter Fair and Bazaar" will be on display Monday at the Pet Shop, through courtesy of Mrs. N. E. Cowie. The fair will be held from December 4 to 7 at the Bay Street Armories.

Prizes include a Shetland pony, three pedigree puppies, three pedigree kittens, a marmoset monkey in a cage, two bowls of goldfish, two pairs of bantam hens, two pairs of African love birds in cages, three singing canaries in cages and one pair of tame white rats.

The pony is a fifteen-month-old purebred Shetland, raised near Duncan, and is known as Black Diamond. He is a black and white animal and will follow any person who calls him.

WINTER STANDS
Plans of the fair call for forty stands, and reservations to date have been excellent. Tourist Trade Association officials report. Space at the Armories will be divided into sections for pure foods, "British Columbia products, the home-beautiful, music and art, and entertainment."

Through Commander G. C. Jones, of the R.C.N. Barracks, 1,000 electric light globes have been loaned for the fair. They will be arranged in brilliant designs on the ceiling at the Armories.

SHARP EARTHQUAKE IN EASTERN CANADA

It was believed the centre of the shock was in the United States, probably in New York State. A house tumbled in at Syracuse, N.Y.

Frightened citizens deluged newspaper offices with calls. In nearly every part of Eastern Canada the quake was strong enough to awaken the slumbering.

DANCES INTERRUPTED
Hundreds of Halloween celebrants in downtown hotels suddenly stopped dancing as the shocks were felt.

Frank O'Donnell, of the Dominion Meteorological Bureau at Toronto, said the tremors were the worst ever felt there.

"It must be a very severe quake somewhere," he said, adding that just north of the St. Lawrence River there is a fault in the earth structure.

In Ohio, Toledo, Columbus, Westerville, Zanesville, Dayton and other cities reported they felt the shock. Suburban residents near Cleveland said the tremor was severe enough to awaken them.

felt a few minutes after 1 in Toronto. When it became apparent the quake was ended, the parties were continued.

In Owen Sound, Ont., beside Georgian Bay, people rushed from their homes in fear. The shocks lasted about forty-five seconds there, and were among the more violent reported. Dishes were knocked off tables and houses were shaken severely.

Frank O'Donnell, of the Dominion Meteorological Bureau at Toronto, said the tremors were the worst ever felt there.

"It must be a very severe quake somewhere," he said, adding that just north of the St. Lawrence River there is a fault in the earth structure.

DECLARES ITALIANS DYING BY HUNDREDS

DURBAN, Union of South Africa, Oct. 31 (AP)—General Eric Verigin, until recently an adviser to Emperor Haile Selassie, said today Italian soldiers in Africa are "dying by the hundreds."

"They were dying before the war began," he said. "I can promise you the Italians will not reach Addis Ababa next year, nor the next year, nor the year after."

OVER-GOVERNMENT

One matter of prime importance, related in some fashion to amendments to the British North America Act, that should be discussed at the forthcoming conference between the provinces and the Dominion Government at Ottawa is that of the problem of over-government and the consequent heavy taxation of the people. There are too many governments in the Dominion. That so many Administrations are top-heavy, unwieldy and making for spendthrift waste is illustrated by the growing liabilities that the Dominion has to assume on behalf of Western Governments. One problem before Ottawa from the national standpoint is to arrive at some understanding which will safeguard the Federal Treasury against further raids. The only way in which this can be done is by rigid economy in government, by doing away with over-government, and perhaps even by setting up Confederation on a new basis.

The cost of government in the Canadian West is out of all proportion to population. There ought to be a consolidation in administration. It is significant that in the decade 1923 to 1933 the gross debt of the provinces of the Dominion increased by $61,844,105, whereas the gross debt of the Dominion was increased in the same period by $417,135,658. It is noted, too, that taxation and the cost of government in relation to national income rose sharply in the years 1928 to 1933, moving up from 124 to 20, and the percentage of expenditure from 142 to 31. This is an illustration of how the national income is being diverted into channels mainly unproductive.

These considerations portray some of the handicaps under which the Dominion is laboring. Obviously a policy of retrenchment is one resting on every Government in the Dominion, but ever that will not be enough if over-government persists. It is the reduction of government in the Dominion that is one of the crying needs if the immediate future is to have hope and confidence. The present trend of spendthrift zeal should be checked. That is the kind of co-operative action that is required between the Liberal Government at Ottawa and the Liberal Governments of the Provinces.

PROSELYTIZING THE SCHOOLS

Premier Aberhart of Alberta wants his Social Credit gospel taught in the schools of that Province. He does not think it necessary to wait until it has been proved workable. In his advocacy of the plan he uses the language of exaggeration and does not hesitate to express untruths. He pictures Canada as drifting towards an "economic slavery" that "would be infinitely worse than any black slavery of the past." This condition he ascribes to there being "no justice or liberty in trade and industry today." His outburst, as can be seen, was purely political, a plea for his new economic theories, and it came in an address to the Women's Canadian Club at Edmonton, an organization which is supposed to be non-political and which has hitherto listened to speeches from which all party bias is excluded.

Moreover, Mr. Aberhart, in a speech to teachers of the Province of Alberta, urged them to read the newest literature on the development of finance and credit and instruct their pupils on their findings. He told them, moreover, that Social Credit would "right all the wrongs of today." This is a sweeping statement utterly unwarranted by any facts that have been adduced. The champion of the new political doctrine in Alberta, like his protagonists elsewhere, lacks for nothing in the language of hyperbole. He is of the type unwilling to admit that there may be two sides to any question, and especially to a question that involves theory alone and has never been put into practice. Seemingly the processes of education are leading to dogmatism instead of well-balanced judgment. Premier Aberhart was formerly a Calgary high school teacher.

"MERELY NAUGHTY"

Lord Snowden is and always has been the politician with a bitter tongue. In the latest election campaign in Great Britain he seems to have allied his fortunes with the Liberals, and so, in view of the state of the party led by Sir Herbert Samuel, he has a fit stage of his querulousness. Lord Snowden appears to have got to the point of unreasoned invective. In one breath he argues that the National Government's policy is so good that there is no need for an election at this time; in another breath he says that policy is so bad that on no account must Mr. Stanley Baldwin be permitted to win the election. His Lordship is convinced that the National Government ceased to be National when he left its ranks. He believes, as Thucydides did of the Peloponnesian War, that "balanced view is difficult when every man imagines that important events are confined to his own immediate vicinity."

Lord Snowden does not wholly know where he stands. That he should have been a speaker before the National Liberal Club recently indicates that Liberalism, however, he does not believe that Liberalism has any chance of winning the coming election, as he advocates that power should again be entrusted to the Labor Party, a party which, by the way, he was instrumental in defeating four years ago. It is amusing to recall that this party then took the same view of the political situation as his Lordship takes today. One count Lord Snowden makes against the National Government is that 600,000 working days were lost last year through unemployment. He does not attempt to compute how many working days were lost for a similar cause in 1930 under a Labor Government. Despite the fact that a million men have been returned to employment, Lord Snowden says the National Government has not encouraged industry and agriculture. His antidote for the situation is that everyone opposed to the National Government should link their political fortunes together. Perhaps the kindest comment on Lord Snowden's diatribes is forthcoming from The London Times, which says: "Lord Snowden has always had rather a selective memory, but in the evening of his days this weakness of his need no longer be pilloried with too severe an epithet. It is merely naughty."

A FILM QUESTIONAIRE

A producing company in Great Britain has been conducting an examination into the popularity of British films and generally into the taste of the public in this particular. Twenty British films were set out in a list and those voting were asked to state their predilections. In the first 10,000 replies pride of place was given to "The Private Life of Henry VIII," with "The Man Who Knew Too Much" occupying second place. Third place went to "I Was a Spy," and fourth to "Men of Aran." Then followed in order "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "Blossom Time," "Catherine the Great," "The Wandering Jew," "Jew Suss," "Sanders of the River," "Neil Gwynn," "Rome Express," "The Iron Duke," "Escape Me Never," "The Thirty-Nine Steps," "Bitter Sweet," "Lorna Doone," "That's a Good Girl," "Abdul the Damned" and "The Dictator."

In this questionnaire there was overwhelming dissent to the belief that a film is dull unless it has a love interest. Purely entertaining films were favored over those of a more serious nature. There are a large majority of persons anxious to see films in natural colors. As to future presentations a sequel to "The Scarlet Pimpernel" was favored in preference to a sequel to "Sanders of the River." To the question: "If of equal merit, do you prefer British or American films?" the answer was overwhelmingly in favor of the former, and a majority vote was given to the desire to see Shakespearean plays on the screen.

SUEZ CANAL TRAFFIC

Italy has paid a sum of approximately $3,750,000 for transporting troops and munitions of war through the Suez Canal since the development of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis. This sum is expected to be multiplied several times before the campaign is finished and the troops withdrawn. Already 200,000 troops have been transported via the Suez with twenty passenger liners employed for the purpose, those vessels ranging from ocean-going ships, such as the Saturnia and the Lombardia, to 1,000-ton steamers. An average transport with a large load pays tolls amounting to from $10,000 to $15,000 to pass through the canal, and a large transport pays $45,000 when laden with troops and supplies. The Suez Canal is reaping a rich harvest.

SUE DOROTHEE, QUE.

I've kept a picture in mind so I may gaze upon it when the Summer's fled; A little shingled house upon a slope Where grasses tall and spikes of goldenrod Shone green and yellow in the August sun.

Beyond the highway lay the rising fields, With cattle grazing, and the mist Of Ofen, ghost-like, rose up from the earth, And countless insects hummed a steady tune In perfect rhythm underneath the stars.

—Adey Williams, in The Montreal Star.

THE HUMAN TOUCH

"Is the human touch in this world that counts, The touch of your hand and mine, Which means far more to the fainting heart Than shelter and bread and wine? For shelter is gone when the night is o'er, And bread lasts only a day, But the touch of the hand and the sound of the voice Sing on in the soul away."

—Spencer Michael Price.

Before thy undertaking of any design, weigh the glory of thy action with the danger of the attempt; if the glory outweighs the danger, it is reasonable to neglect it; if the danger exceeds the glory, it is rashness to attempt it; if the balance stands poised, let thy own genius cast them.—Quarles.

Strong impulses are but another name for energy. Energy may be turned to bad uses, but more good may always be made of an energetic nature than of an indolent and impassive one.—John Stuart Mill.

A certain excess of animal spirit with thoughtless good-humor will often make more enemies than the most deliberate spite and ill-nature, which is on its guard, and strikes with caution and safety.—Hazlitt.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

The education forms the common mind; Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined.—Pope.
It is a rare father that knows his own child.—Shakespeare.

What is the prime object of life? That appears to be the question everybody is asking and to which nobody seems to be capable of giving a satisfactory answer.

The practical man says the object of education should be to teach the young idea how to shoot so straight as to hit the mark. The imaginative man says the true object of education is purely cultural; that the man who has not been made familiar with the classics (meaning the literature of past and current ages) cannot be considered an educated man. The experience of most men is that the cultured man, in the purely academic sense of the term, is very often an abject failure in the battle of life, and in the lexicon of human life there is no such word as armistice.

In the published diary of Tom Moore, the gentle, Irish poet and singer, there are some reflections and speculations upon the subject of the effects of education upon the mind and actions of the common people. The people of Moore's times were comparatively rude and uncultured. In the poet's native land the people were so unsophisticated that they attached a great deal of value to pontifical, patriarchal and paternal benedictions, and some value even to the showers of blessings bestowed by old wives. In that respect they were as unsophisticated as the son of the Scriptural patriarch who implored, "Bless me, even as I, my father."

In this highly sophisticated and extremely sceptical generation, in which the schoolmaster has been abroad and has done his work with more or less cultural effect, it is, therefore, highly interesting to learn that there is a political leader who has assumed a pontifical, patriarchal or paternal role, has lifted his hands on high, and has assured us that Canada will be blessed as never before under the administration of a new Government which has been ordained to rule over us for the next four or five years.

Mr. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, if he were garbed in his academic robes, must have been an impressive figure when he assured the newspapermen for purposes of publication that in the term of his office Canadians were assured "of happiness, peace and sweet content." We are not sure whether we have played the comforting words in their proper order, but we have given the purport of them.

Possibly we should not say it is one of the peculiarities or the contrivances of nature that men most amply endowed to discharge the important and difficult duties of fatherhood are denied the happiness and the responsibilities of paternity, for who has plumbed the depths of the emotions of the human heart or can conceive of the influences which have shaped the destinies of men or women who have dedicated their lives to states of single blessedness. The private affairs of all men and women are their exclusive business, and any attempts to probe into them, as we were once pertinently reminded, are impertinences.

The thought which entered our mind after reading the Prime Minister's paternal benediction and prophecy after he had been victorious in the election and sworn into office was that, denied a family of his own, he had adopted all Canadians as a family and considered them under his protection. He is the father of the flock, and all we are his children. Wishing Mr. King well as he is organizing his political household, may the peace he has promised be a peace that passeth understanding, the happiness he has predicted be unbounded, and the sweet content which is to be our portion be destitute of any poisonous alloy. May no serpent of discord be permitted to enter our Canadian Garden of Eden.

Mr. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King has not only promised Canadian peace, happiness and sweet content. He has told all the world that Canada is going to set it an example of the perfection of political and economical relations—life and trade depression in business, and trade everywhere is due to false nationalistic notions, the fruit of which is high tariffs obstructive to business and trade. So he is going to reduce tariffs, trusting that all the other nations will do the same thing. With an inward eye fixed upon elections and another general election, he says he would have approached Great Britain first with a view to modification in the terms of Imperial preferential trade but for the fact that a general election was being held over there. In the meantime he is looking to Washington in the hope of negotiating a reciprocity treaty, which might have been accomplished but for the fact that Washington, remembering the

Help for the Helpless

One night this week a taxi driver was astounded to see an automobile bowling along Government Street with no pilot at the wheel. He gave chase and succeeded in bringing the machine to a stop within inches of a plate glass window. Out of nowhere the car's owner appeared, leaped in, and sped off without so much as a thank you. The same peeved a tired waiter we know was awakened from a deep sleep behind a pit-pat of feet under his bed. A searching investigation revealed a plump quail as the cause of the disturbance. Our friend does not relate what happened to the bird after that. Two friends left Cowichan for Victoria the other night. One of them decided to have a nap and told his partner to wake him when they reached Mill Bay. Some time after he awoke and remarked that they should soon pass the ferry landing. They were more than surprised when the lights of Ladysmith were in sight. How they got there they cannot imagine, for both of them knew the Island Highway well and they had not been, elbow bending.—G.B.

Sir—Will you permit me to make a correction of the printed version of my letter on "Scandinavianism" as on looking over the duplicate copy I see the words "champion of monotheism" has been inserted "monotheism" and the emblem given to Abraham was a symbol of fruitfulness, or great posterity, described as precious beyond comparison. An excursion train had stopped unexpectedly at a country station, and the guard, stretching his legs on the platform, observed blue smoke pouring from the window of a car prominently labelled "no smoking." He opened the door, and after surveying six gully-looking holiday-makers, said:

"Gentlemen, there are two rules on this line which repeatedly are broken. First, smoking is forbidden in the smoking car. Second, for that purpose, also, the company's servants may not accept gratuities. You already have broken one of these rules."

SUIT BID VALUATION

Knowing whether to bid at all, or when to open once you have started, resolves itself into a process of accurately estimating the number of tricks you and your partner can take. While the words "never" and "always" never should be used, it is in the nature of a law among bridge players, modern scientific methods have taken most of the "guess" out of the situation under normal conditions.

The table of honor tricks is based by the defensive value of the honors by the fact that usually when your opponents are playing a hand at a trump contract, no more than two tricks can be won against them in any suit, because declarer or dummy will be able to ruff the third round. But when you or your partner becomes declarer the danger of opponents' ruffs is much less, as it usually is possible to draw their trumps before they can use them for ruffing.

Therefore, at your own bid, combinations of three or more honors, and sometimes two card combinations, have much greater value than on defence. In estimating the possibilities for your own suit bids, you can be expected to take no more than two tricks on defence, but it is worth four tricks at your own bid. If you have a promise of no tricks at all against the opponents' suit, it can be expected to be counted as a winner at a suit bid of your own. A Q, J, figured at one and half tricks defensively, offers the certainty of two and the possibility of three to the declarer's partnership. On the same basis all other honor combinations automatically increase in value when computed from the standpoint of a final bid by your own partnership.

In addition to the full value of the honors, you also count your long suits, both the trump suit and any side suit of four cards or more, provided the side suit is headed by at least the jack. Count all long suits, both the trump suit and any side suit of four cards or more, provided the side suit is headed by at least the jack. Count all long cards beyond three in a suit as one-half winners. In the trump suit, if you have four cards, all but one card more than three are counted as one winner each.

In supporting your partner's suit, also count honors at their full value, and long suits. Trump honors now are worth more than in the hand contract value, one full winner being counted for ace, king, or queen-jack, and queen being counted one-half winner. Ruffing possibilities are also counted by the supporting hand. With three cards in partner's suit, count one-half winner for any doubtless, one winner for any singleton, and two winners for any void in a side suit. With four cards of partner's suit, double the winners for doubtless and singleton, side suit holdings, and count three winners for a void suit. With this sound method of counting, a partnership can arrive at an accurate estimate of the tricks it can win.

RAISING WITH WEAK TRUMPS

When partner has shown a trump suit by a powerful rebid of that suit, it often is proper to raise his suit with as little trump support as J x or 10 x.

Hallow'en Night Is Rough on Rats

CONCORD, Mass., Oct. 31 (AP)—Rats were on the run in "every Middlesex village and farm" tonight. For six years Middlesex County citizens have joined in a huge rat hunt on Hallow'en night. It serves a double purpose—kills the rodents and gives their boys and girls something to do besides ringing doorbells and pulling pranks.

COMMITTEE TO REVIEW ZONING

Residents of Ward Three, Saanich, Urge Curbing Of Greenhouses

To study the whole question of zoning in Ward Three, a committee of the Saanich Council, appointed last night, prepared to meet within a few days. Councillor A. G. Lamb, Ward Three, chairman, reported.

The committee was named after a delegation from the Ward Three Ratepayers' Association urged the council to curb erection of greenhouses in the Gordon Head area. Besides Councillor Lamb, the committee includes Councillors E. C. Warren, Ward Two; H. D. Cotton, Ward Five; and Fred Borden, Ward One.

Leslie G. Scott, president of the association, reported on the smoke nuisance, while A. W. McClung advised the adoption of a town-planning scheme.

That greenhouses required considerable quantities of water, thus drawing from the essential water supply in the area, was pointed out.

The council's committee will confer with interested ratepayers on the problem, it was said.

Y.M.C.A. Club Observes First Anniversary—Talk Given on Home Portraiture

Valuable hints on home-portraiture were given to twenty-five members of the Y.M.C.A. Camera Club and their friends by E. J. Savannah last evening during the first anniversary banquet of the club held at the Y.M.C.A. Harvey Dobson presided.

By means of photographs and blackboard diagrams, Mr. Dobson showed the amateur photographers how to attain proper general composition, lighting and expression, using both ordinary and artificial lighting.

Frank Paulding, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., paid tribute to the photography of club members. He believed they would find great pleasure in art by actually accomplishing something in their leisure hours. He said the Y.M.C.A. was firmly behind the club, because its members were learning how to make themselves more useful and capable.

States Tourist Business Pays Big Dividends

In Mexico the tourist business is paying big dividends, and Summer and Winter tourists are being graciously welcomed in large numbers, according to Thomas S. Gore, owner of the Geneva Hotel in Mexico City. Mr. Gore, accompanied by Mrs. Gore, is registered at the Empress Hotel.

Mexico has been little hurt by the almost world-wide economic depression, the visitor explained, but the country is not allowing wholesale immigration.

Mr. Gore is well known in Victoria, having been brought up in the city. Forty-seven years ago he left here to go to Mexico. His father, W. S. Gore, was for many years deputy minister of works for British Columbia.

John Buchan's Books Show Prolific Mind And Original Plots

Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas Gives Entertaining and Informative Talk on Writings of New Governor-General of Canada at Y.W.C.A.

"YOU cannot read his books without becoming imbued with his idealism and wanting to read more," said Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas yesterday afternoon in the course of her delightfully sympathetic talk on the writings of John Buchan, the well-known Scottish author, who now, as Lord Tweedsmuir, has come to Canada in the rôle of Governor-General.

While she by no means reviewed all of the "fifty books he has written in forty years," Mrs. Thomas did give a very intimate glimpse into some of the best of Mr. Buchan's books, and at the same time suggested the racy, wholesome, adventurous, and entertaining character of the stories coming from Mr. Buchan's prolific pen.

Some interesting sidelights on the author came later when, in describing his "secret" ambition, she noted that there were to write a full life of the American, General Robert Lee; to make the best literature accessible to the poorest person; which, as a member of a famous publishing firm, he was in a position to promote; and to do a little to help bring about a full understanding between the Americans and the people of the British Empire.

BIOGRAPHY

Educated in England and Scotland, John Buchan, at the age of twenty-one, wrote his first book. He was called to the bar, went to South Africa as secretary to Lord Milner, after varied experiences became member of Parliament, did work in connection with the B.B.C. and for the British films, and had been Lord High Commissioner of Scotland. During the war he acted as war from whom Prince Charlie was supposed, according to some historians, to have derived his courage.

A characteristic of Buchan's fictional books was that the same characters continually appeared, "in the guise of welcome old friends," in book after book. In this connection the speaker recalled some of the characters in "Huntingtower," "Castle Gay," and "The House of the Four Winds"; and in the Richard Hannay books which included "The Thirty-Nine Steps" being shown here in movie form. This had been considered the "thriller" of its year. "Greenmantle" dealt with the early part of the war, disclosing the author's knowledge of the secret service and of South Africa.

KEEN OBSERVER

Numerous passages were quoted from books to illustrate the keen powers of observation possessed by Buchan.

Other books mentioned were "The Three Hostages," dealing with the crime of the after-war period; "The Courts of the Morning," showing a favorite type—the intellectual criminal who enjoys being a criminal just to show how clever he could be; "John MacNab"; "The Path of the King," a story beginning in Anglo-Saxon times and finishing with Abraham Lincoln; "The Prince of the Captivity," and several biographies, "Cromwell," "Sir Walter Scott," and "Lord Minto."

Mrs. Edwin Tomlin presided, and thanked the speaker for a fascinating afternoon.

Hallowe'en Cabaret Has Big Success at Empress

Black Cats, Illuminated Pumpkins, Witches and Other Emblems of Occasion Make Background for Gay Scene at Hotel

Black cats with roving eyes, pumpkins with illuminated grins, witches, tawny autumn leaves, orange-colored menus and table trimmings of black and rusty-gold made a strikingly effective background for the gay Hallowe'en cabaret-gathering assembled in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel last evening.

A further fillip to the occasion was given by the new decorations and the additional "pace" created in the highly-polished floor, so that the atmosphere was most gay and seasonable.

Dancing began at 9 o'clock and at intervals during the evening entertaining cabaret turns by accomplished dancers from the Florence Clough Dancing Academy enlivened the proceedings. These were all most strikingly dressed, with emphasis on the Hallowe'en character of the affair. Miss Kathleen Mann was the soloist in a novelty tap dance that was enthusiastically received, and later in the evening a bevy of top-hatted girls, dressed alike in smart costumes of yellow and black, came down the floor to present a well-rehearsed chorus and dance, in which Miss Isabel McAlpine was the soloist. Other girls taking part in this were Misses Thekla Strand, Kathleen Mann, Frances Horde, Lulu Bond, Kathleen Gregson and David Webb. The last of the feature dances was a "Piccolino," a novelty in Spanish style, with costumes in the same motif, presented by "Tina and Alex." All these were warmly applauded.

The eight-piece orchestra played a lively programme. The stage on which they were seated was elaborately decked and lighted with pumpkins and blinking cats, while the back curtain was trimmed with autumn leaves.

Among those present were Col. and Mrs. J. R. Kington, Mr. and Mrs. William Cameron, Miss Nonie Rae, Major and Mrs. H. Cuthbert Holmes, Miss Helen Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine McDermott, Miss Mason Hurley, Mr. D. Mason Hurley, Miss M. Barber-Sturkey, Mr. B. Davies, Capt. and Mrs. H. W. ## Caravan Tour Is Described For Audience

An address compact with human interest was given at the Memorial hall on Wednesday evening by Miss Hasell, a member of the Caravan Sunday School Mission that penetrates to some of the hinterlands and frontiers of Canada's Northwest and West.

The caravan comprises no less than seventeen of these "mission vans," which carry the message of the Bible as well as many little acts of kindness and practical services appreciated in the lonely homes of the backlands.

Some vivid descriptions, accompanied by pictures, conveyed an idea of the hardships encountered by the plucky women who "man" the vans. Terrible floods in certain areas of the Peace River country made a morass of the roads, which were almost impassable either by motor car or horse-drawn vehicle. Some of the pictures showed the vans plunging in mud holes. Much poverty was encountered among the settlers, who appreciated the friendly services of the visitors.

BOYS TO SELECT REPRESENTATIVES

November 23 has been set as the date for a general election of the Thirtieth of British Columbia according to a proclamation signed by E. R. McLean, provincial secretary and Herbert Friesen, chairman of the parliament committee.

Sessions of the thirtieth parliament will be held in the Legislative Buildings from December 27 to 31. Nomination papers must reach the boys' work board and the district returning officers no later than November 26. Victoria will be represented by six members, one from the Y.M.C.A. and a total of five for the city. Esquimalt, Sidney, Saanich, Oak Bay and the Gulf Islands. Full information may be obtained at the Y.M.C.A.

To License Dance Halls in Saanich

All dance halls in Saanich will in future be licensed at a nominal fee, the Saanich Council decided last night, in approving a proposal of the municipal police board. This action was taken to control all dances in the municipality. Complaints had been received that some of the dances at halls were "rowdy," it was stated. The council also voted to prevent wholesale soliciting of boys for hire for pleasure fishing trips.

Continental Celebrates Hallowe'en

Noise makers and Hallowe'en novelties made the dance at the Club Continental last night one of much merriment. The evening was the form of a farewell to Mr. Morley LePage, second trumpet player in the orchestra, who is leaving today for Montreal, where he has accepted an engagement with Al Cooper and his orchestra. It was announced during the evening that Mr. LePage would be leaving and the encores he received for his singing showed the popularity of this young musician.

Les and Zoe Wagstaff opened their floor act with a revival of the Carjaco and for an encore danced a tango. Miriam Schwabe, in a jaunty costume of maroon and tan velvet, appeared in two new dances, "Trunkin'" and "Top Hat." Doreen Wilson sang during the evening.

THE DANCERS.
Among those reserving tables and dancing were Mr. and Mrs. T. Bishop, Mr. R. Smith, Miss D. Warburton, Mr. George Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Head Winds Delay
Passage of Liner
Across Atlantic

MONTREAL, Oct. 31 (P.)—The liner Duchess of Richmond, bearing Lord Tweedsmuir, new Canadian Governor-General, is bucking head winds on the Atlantic, and probably will not arrive at Quebec until 6 p.m., Saturday, officials of Canadian Pacific Steamships announced here today.

Nebraska, Captain R. B. Hill, docked alongside Ogden Point Pier 7, 7 o'clock last evening. Bringing 400 tons of general cargo for local consignees, longshoremen began discharging it as soon as the ship tied up. Completing the unloading of the local freight, some quantity of frozen fish and cases of loganberries and other general merchandise were loaded for the homeward passage. The Nebraska proceeded to Mainland port to complete discharging early this morning.

Outward bound, the Canadian Pacific liner Ss. Empress of Canada will be here for a shorter time today. The British ship Rosamond, which was completing her parcel for the United Kingdom. The Empress, which arrived from Chechnia late Wednesday night, picked up a small amount and left for Port Alberni during the afternoon. She will return over the week-end to complete, while the Japanese freighter Kohman Maru arrived from sea, and will leave here tomorrow night for Vancouver and other Mainland ports.

Canadian Transport Company, managing operators of the Vancouver-West India Line, report the fixture of British Ss. Thimbleton to load this month for British West India ports. The vessel is posted to go on berth about November 22, sailing two days later for Port of Spain, Trinidad, and Bridgetown. The time agents also have the British Ss. Greenington Court loading at the present time at Vancouver for the same destination and sailing tomorrow.

Serving as an extra vessel in the Nippon Yusen Kaisha service to Japan for one voyage, Ss. Tottori Maru is scheduled to reach Mainland ports to load for Japan. The vessel left Kobe on October 21 and will load at Ocean Falls and Powell River, sailing about November 25 with heavy freight shipments for Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS

Arriving during the week at Vancouver, the Danish East Africa Motorship Europa had a total of twenty-five passengers aboard, fourteen of whom were from Southampton, the balance being California tourists. The Europa, which is carrying heavy cargo of British Columbia products, she will load 600 tons of pith and oil in bulk, 520,000 feet of lumber, ten car loads of apples, 1,200 doors, 1,800 bundles of shingles, 1,600 cases of canned salmon, 175 tons of fish meal and flour, oats, mouldings, bran, mild cured salmon and strawberries in brine.

Bringing 700 tons of freight from Mediterranean ports, the Italian Ss. Fella has arrived at Vancouver. The freight consisted mainly of Christmas table delicacies. The Fella will sail tomorrow and take out a large quantity of British Columbia cargo for delivery in Marseille, Genoa, Leghorn, Naples and Trieste.

Two small boys were gazing at the shop windows decorated for Christmas. Presently they arrived at a butcher shop and one pointed to a number of hams hanging from a large holly branch. "Look," he said, "look at them 'ams 'a-grown up there."

"Get away," said the other, "ams don't grow."

"Well, that's all you know about it," said the first boy scornfully. "Ain't you never 'eard of a amy bush?"

JUDGMENT IS INTERESTING

Court Holds Present-Day
Maritime Developments
Must Be Considered

It is mid-afternoon on June 6, 1931. The Marie Maersk, sixteen days out from Curacao, bound for Las Palmas, Canary Island, is on fire. Unable to extinguish the flames, the crew takes to the boats. The fire burns itself out. At midnight the men return on board to find the engines wholly disabled, the living quarters badly damaged, and all provisions destroyed.

Thus the stage was set for an interesting salvage case decided by the District Court in New York on August 5, 1935. In response to an SOS sent out by means of an improvised transmitter, the "Eastern Glen," bound from African ports to Boston, came to the assistance of the Maersk, and started to tow her to Boston, with the understanding that the question of compensation was to be settled by the respective owners of the vessels. The Maersk, of course, wanted to be towed to Las Palmas, but the salvors couldn't be bothered with going that far out of the way.

OWNERS GET AWAY

As soon as the Maersk owners in Copenhagen learned by wireless of the situation, they decided that they didn't want their boat in Boston, and they arranged for two ocean-going tugs to take the disabled vessel to Las Palmas. As all communication had to be through the wireless set of the Eastern Glen, Captain Holmgren, of that vessel, naturally learned of the approach of the tugs, which he regarded as interlopers, or rate-cutting competitors. Captain Peterson, of the Maersk, on June 11, at 1:35 p.m., communicated as follows to Holmgren:

"According to instructions just received I ask you again to stop and let go the hawser—stop—if not, I will have to cut the chain before dark."

Holmgren, who was apparently not of the terse and laconic school of Norsemen, replied at length: "You are taking a great gravity of which you evidently seem to realize—you will be held responsible for breaking a verbal contract which you made and accepted. The greatest honor a seafarer has in the acceptance of a call for aid from a fellow man and the opportunity to bring safely to port one who has met misfortune. Respect the traditions of your forefathers."

Peterson was probably so floored by this that he couldn't answer. After another message of equal length and rhetorical appeal, Peterson ended the matter with the following comment: "As you still refuse to cast off I will cut the chain when signal flags go up. Take care of your propellers." To which the Danish skipper of the Eastern Glen, finally converted by his opponent's literary style, answered:

"You are taking the consequences." The chain was cut, and the Maersk was thereafter picked up by the tugs and taken safely to Las Palmas. The salvaged value of the Maersk and her cargo was over half a million dollars, and the court had a number of general statements to make regarding the amount to be awarded. Some of these comments will interest insurance people. For example: "Modern facilities of communication, and present-day maritime developments, are to be taken into account in salvage cases, and rewards such large percentages as formerly were granted are not now the ordinary rule."

The court finally decided that under ordinary circumstances the Eastern Glen would have been entitled an award of $75,000, but that due to her refusal to cast off when requested to do so, the award should be reduced to $7,000.

FORMER MAYOR

James J. "Jimmy" Walker
Back in New York After Long Exile

ABOARD SS. MANHATTAN, OFF QUARANTINE, NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (P.)—James J. "Jimmy" Walker, former Mayor of New York, returned home today from almost three years of self-imposed exile in Europe. Walker, with his wife, the former Betty Compton, misanthropic comedy actor, arrived at quarantine on the liner Manhattan at noon. An advance guard of a flotilla of welcoming craft—two pleasure yachts—met the Manhattan shortly after it passed Ambrose Light. The yachts blew a greeting to be answered by a hoarse salute from the liner. The yachts flew banners bearing the inscriptions, "Hello, Jimmy," and "Welcome Home, Jimmy."

British Bomber in Action

This remarkable picture shows one of the Hawker-Hind light bombers immediately after it has attacked the machine of which the tail fin can be seen in the foreground, and is swinging away to get clear of the fire being put in the other machine. The Hawker-Hind (Rolls-Royce Kestrel, V 640 horsepower supercharged engine) is replacing the famous Hart bomber in service with the Royal Air Force. Maximum speed with full load is 200 miles per hour at a height of 14,000 feet above sea-level. It is not only much faster than the Hart, but carries a bigger load and can climb much higher.

FIRST DIVISION LEADERS TO MEET PORTSMOUTH

Sunderland Will Travel for Game; Villa in Bad Way

Pace-Setters Head South for Tomorrow's Match in Old Country Soccer—Derby Faces Manchester City—Huddersfield Takes on Chelsea—Villars' Manager Quits

LONDON, Oct. 31. — Seeking to strengthen the team now fighting hard to regain First Division status in the English Football League, directors of Tottenham Hotspurs offered $25,000 for Alex. Massie, star halfback of Heart of Midlothian, Scottish club. The Edinburgh men refused the offer today.

Heads are falling at Villa Park where Aston-Villa is in a desperate plight at the bottom of the senior league.

James McMullan, team manager, has resigned, and Frank Barson, former England and Manchester United halfback, is taking charge as coach and trainer. T. Waring, the club's international centre-forward, has been released at his own request. Sutherland, leader of the league, travels from the North to the South of England on Saturday for the game with Portsmouth. One point separates the Roker Park outfit from Huddersfield Town and Derby County.

WHEN we refer to the wrong side, we mean, of course, the inside, but we do not refer only to the lining which is all you can see on the inside. Between the lining and the fabric, there are many highly technical operations which can only be done well by skilled craftsmen.

Twenty-five years of tailoring experience has taught us to carry out these operations efficiently. The foundation which is formed by a canvas, must be constructed and placed with meticulous care. The choice of suitable Hymos is an all-important factor, because this material when properly moulded, brings out the smart lines in the lapels.

We have selected Spun Haircloth that forms a foundation which insures a shapely coat. This is so woven that it does away with the irritation of horse hair working its way through the fabric. These are some of the hidden advantages that assure you Tip Top satisfaction.

CARNERA TO FACE NEUSEL

Clashes With Rugged German Heavyweight Tonight in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. — They've patched up old Primo Carnera again and will now back into the boxing ring against Walter Neusel, rugged German heavyweight, at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The fight is scheduled for ten rounds. Carnera was the 10.5 favorite tonight, but the bout has attracted little betting interest.

It will be the man mountain's first ring appearance since he was about half-killed by the devastating left hooks of Joe Louis, here, here, here.

Summer. Neusel has scored victories over Jack Peterson, the British heavy; Tommy Loughran, Ray Impellittere and King Levinsky, among others.

If Neusel whips Carnera he has the half-way promise that he would be Louis' opponent in the Garden in March.

The Dons of Aberdeen are leading the field and, playing at home Saturday against Queen of South, should garner the possible two points.

Celtic, in the runner-up position, also plays at home against Dundee, Glasgow Rangers, in third place, may meet with opposition from Queen's Park. The famous amateurs, with two new players, last Saturday stamped St. Johnstone, 5-1.

In the minor league a four-cornered fight has been waged since the opening of the season between St. Mirren, Falkirk, St. Bernards and Morton.

NEW ZEALAND RUGBY SQUAD IN TRIUMPH

Touring Fifteen Scores Thirtieth Victory in Old Country

NEWPORT, England, Oct. 31. — Extending its string of victories to thirteen, the touring New Zealand Rugby team today defeated Newport, 17-5. The record of the All Blacks' tour thus far has been marred by only one defeat, that inflicted by Swansea, September 28, when the score was 13-3.

The loss in the Welsh city was the first suffered by New Zealand in the Old Country since 1905. The touring team in that season won thirty-two matches and ran up 868 points against forty-seven. In 1924 the All-Blacks won thirty games, all that were played, and bagged 721 points against 112.

With today's fixture the present team reached the halfway mark of the tour. The fourteen games have yielded the All-Blacks 225 points, while their opponents have only gained eighty-five. The showing is not nearly so impressive as that of the previous touring sides, particularly in view of the fact that up to the present only club teams have been met. The latter half of the schedule includes international matches with Scotland, Ireland, Wales and England.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX MORRISON

I always feel most fortunate when I hit upon a prescription that cures certain golf ailments. Such ailments are rather difficult to cure because they are largely mental.

Trying to steer the ball or guide the clubhead is an example of this. They don't realize that it is nine-tenths mental.

I found that swinging an iron club through tall grass gives the feeling of having a secure grip on the club. If your hold is loose and uncertain to begin with, your first swings will make you aware of this. Continued swinging will result in your hands turning up automatically.

Yoursure the angle at which the clubface is swinging through the bottom of the swing. It will do much to improve your whole swing.

SEVERAL INJURIES

On the other hand, the All-Blacks have been unlucky in the matter of injuries, several star players having been incapacitated for one or more matches. While being the scrum they have played brilliantly, the forwards have several times been injured to opposing packs. English sports writers have criticized the persistency with which they adhere to the 3-4-1 formation in scrummaging, as opposed to the customary 3-2-3 plan.

The All-Blacks won their opening game against Devon and Cornwall, 35-6, but since then several teams have given them hard battles. At Glasgow they were held to a 9-8 victory by Glasgow and Edinburgh, and the combined services of the two teams were held to a 9-8 victory by Glasgow and Edinburgh, and the combined services of the two teams were held to a 9-8 victory by Glasgow and Edinburgh.

QUESTION?
How expensive is it to learn to fly?

by JOHN SEIDEL, JR.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

SOLO FLYING COURSES COST FROM $35 TO $150 DEPENDING ON THE TYPE SHIP USED AND THE AMOUNT OF DUAL INSTRUCTION NEEDED.

THE PRIVATE PILOT'S LICENSE, WHICH ENABLES YOU TO TAKE YOUR FRIENDS UP, COSTS FROM $400 TO $700.

FLYING TIME BY THE HOUR WILL COST YOU FROM $4.00 TO $15.00 PER HOUR DEPENDING ON THE TYPE OF SHIP YOU HIRE.

WHEN one mentions the phrase "learn to fly," many implications arise. When is one able to fly? After the first solo flight? Certainly, but how? There are many degrees of flying proficiency; however, the U.S. Government sets a minimum standard in the private pilot's license, which is given when the student has been judged sufficiently proficient to carry passengers, not for hire or reward. This license is granted after the student pilot has flown at least fifty hours solo—this, of course, being in addition to the seventeen or eighteen hours he has ridden with

A LITTLE BIRD TOLD ME
The oldest literature contains references to the mysterious possession of knowledge by birds who communicate it to humans most concerned.

Contemporary literature of all kinds is, of course, replete with the phrase. Also, it is fairly common all the way back to the time of Heywood, who, gathering together all of the homely proverbs and idioms of the sixteenth century that he could find, included in his compilation the line:

"I hear by one bird that in mine ear was chanting."
We also find the expression in the

"Arabian Nights" in the tale, called "The Two Sisters," indicating that even in antiquity this alleged fictitious explanation of the source of knowledge was known.

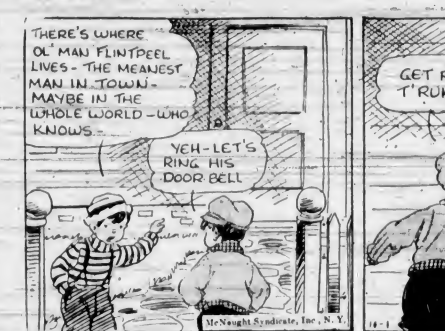

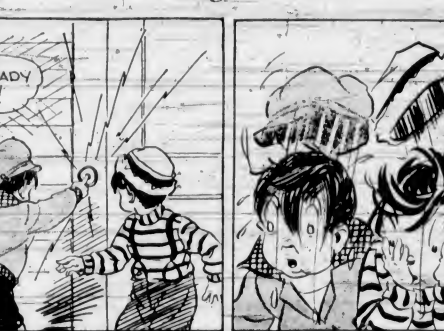

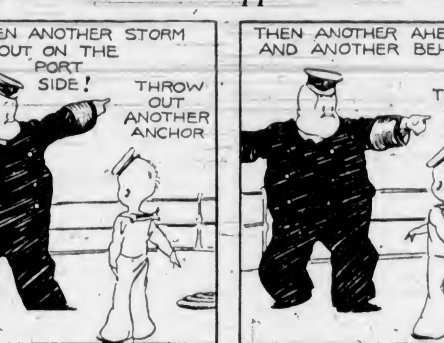

Neither is the Bible a stranger to the line, for we find in Ecclesiastes 1:20:

"Even in thy thought thou must not curse a king; and in thy bed-chambers thou shalt not curse the rich; for a bird of the air can carry the sound, and that which hath wings can tell the word."

A boy made his fifth appearance before a county magistrate on a charge of petty larceny, his father accompanying him.

"I'm tired of seeing this boy here," said the magistrate. "Why don't you teach him better—show him the right way?"

"I've showed him the right way," replied the father, "but he always gets caught."

FEATHER IN HER HAT
by JULIE ANNE POORE

CHAPTER XXIII
As far as Ann was concerned, her trip to Elmville was an incident of importance to no one but herself. But Mollie, being Mollie, had other ideas. First she proposed, unknown to Ann, that they have dinner at the apartment—Rita, Carl and Bill—and then drive to the station to see Ann off. But Rita announced that she and Carl had an engagement that couldn't be broken, and then Bill swore by all that was holy he could not possibly get away.
What Mollie said to Bill left his ear burning long after he had put up the telephone receiver and served to bring him, humble and apologetic, to the apartment a few nights after Ann's departure.
Thus thwarted in her first designs, Mollie decided to make Ann's home-going a real event—and did. Ann was leaving at 6 o'clock. She planned to do a little shopping, then have dinner with Mollie and Rita, and about 7 o'clock take the trolley.
A lump rose suddenly in her throat when at five minutes after 6 she entered the apartment and found the living-room flaming with the gaudy colors of party decorations, and the table looking for all the world like the birthday party table of a very little girl.
Mollie, of course, Mollie turning every pleasant little event into a gay celebration. And then Ann saw that the table was set for three and, knowing Rita had gone directly to the justice department to meet Carl, she decided Mollie had asked Bill up—and she was thoroughly angry with herself for the sudden pounding of her heart.
Voices came to her from the kitchen. Ann picked up a spoon, drummed on the top plate in the stack and sang out lustily, "It's a party, it's a party... you're not in-vi-ted, smarty... it's a party, it's a party!"
The kitchen door flew open and Ann's eyes popped. "Oh...," she said as Mollie caught her hands. Ann stood transfixed. It seemed altogether incredible, and yet there in the kitchen doorway was Lady Lyle, wiping her hands on one of Mollie's aprons, looking quite comfortable and pleased. Ann managed to say at last, "I'm terribly sorry, Lady Lyle... Mollie didn't even hint..."
No doubt history will give ample space to this first Lady of Ann's Washington days and it is just possible that somewhere there will be casual mention of her friendship with Mollie Winslow, the brilliant young newspaper woman. But of that memorable little party in Mollie's apartment, posterity will probably hear nothing at all.
Ann found it impossible to be awed by Lady Lyle's presence, as the recollection of their meeting at her Elmville home came to reassure her. They talked about the things Ann understood and liked to talk about and she found herself talking as unself-consciously as though only Mollie had been there to listen. And Lady Lyle, to whom both talking and listening were alike to be equally respected, contributed no more, no less than her third of the light, rambling conversation.
It was 7 o'clock when Ann's eyes happened to come to rest on the clock. After train left in an hour. Mollie said presently, "If your chauffeur is as punctual as usual, Lady Lyle, the car should be at the door by now." And she got up and went to the front window. "On the dot... No, we're not doing the dishes," she said firmly as Lady Lyle rose and began to collect the silver. "I'll have all night to do that and I'll love it."
"I wish you would let me enjoy myself when I have an opportunity," Lady Lyle complained. "You're always telling me I can't do this and I can't do that."
"But there isn't time enough tonight," Mollie laughed. Pulling the table back against the wall, she said to Ann, "Lady Lyle is sending us to the station in her car, darling. Isn't she sweet?"
"Oh, but she mustn't," Ann said, quickly. "I can take a trolley and—" "And now you're telling me what I can't do," Lady Lyle sighed. "You've been associating with Mollie too much, I'm afraid. It's impossible for me to go to the station with you, unfortunately, but you and Mollie are taking me home before you go. I have something I want you to give to your mother for me."
"She'll frame it, whatever it is," Ann laughed.
"If she's wise, she'll eat it," Lady Lyle declared. "It's a jar of marmalade."
For the second time Ann found herself riding in the Lady Lyle's car. Almost before she realized it, they were at the front entrance of the White House and Lady Lyle was hurrying inside and calling to them to follow.
"The dearest stuff, Mollie," Ann whispered, and Mollie laughed softly and slipped her arm through Ann's.
"You get over that after a while," Mollie said. "Be yourself. They hate and despise affectation in all its forms."
And then they were inside. Lady Lyle turned, motioned to them and said, "Come in a minute, Ann."

And Ann, still clinging to Mollie's arm, passed through the doorway, and Lady Lyle said, "This is Ann Rogers, dear—and her maid-in-waiting. My husband, Ann..."
The President did not rise, but took Ann's hand in his large and friendly one, and his smile was as genuinely cordial as his handclasp. "Won't you and your maid-in-waiting sit down and chat for a moment?" he said, pleasantly. "The little White House birds have been whispering hints of a romance involving a very famous flyer, Ann. I suppose you're not in a position to confirm the rumor?"
Suddenly, strangely at ease, Ann said, "I should think little White House birds would be so busy talking politics they wouldn't have time to be gossiping about romance. Even when they know it isn't just a rumor."
The President laughed, tipping back his head. And then he said a curious thing. "There was a time when we hoped for romance in another quarter, Ann. But newspaper women and newspaper men seem to make little headway with one another in affairs of the heart." He turned slowly to look at Mollie, but at that moment Lady Lyle came into the room with a neatly-strapped little bundle and put it in Ann's hands.
"Tell your mother, if she likes it, I'll send her the recipe," she said. "The President gave them no opportunity to say good-bye. He merely slipped his hand and said, smiling, 'You'll remember to express my gratitude to your mother and father for their kindness to—' he gave Mollie a little grin as he passed—to Lady Lyle. And we'll expect you to run in for a visit now and then before the big event takes place."
And then they were in the hall again and the door was closed and Ann was suddenly all aglitter inside. She had seen the President, had talked with him, had found him as real and friendly and likable as her own father.
It was after twelve when Rita alighted from Carla's roadster and laughingly blew him a kiss from the palm of a gloved hand.
"Can't come to tonight, darling," she told him, loftily. "The lights on, which means Mollie's awake and probably alone."
Carl nodded and before Rita reached the elevator, his car was slipping past the second corner.
Rita had come in digging around in her purse for the key to the apartment, and it was not until she heard her name spoken by the dry, lifeless voice that she turned back from the open elevator door and saw Selma sitting on the stairs.
"Selma—you've given me a terrible fright," she said. The unexpectedness of Selma's voice had startled her far less than the sight of Selma's face did now. The girl was ill. Her eyes were strangely dull and the skin under them was loose and colorless. She said with an effort to be casual, "Come along. We'll go up and ask Mollie to make some tea."
Selma continued to sit on the stairs, elbows on her knees, her hands supporting her chin. "I can't go up," she said. "I've just come to ask you what you mean to do about Carl?"
Rita remembered what Ann said. Bill had told her about Selma. "She's hard and she fights with anything in reach..." There had been a time when she would have been badly frightened. But now she was too sure of her love for Carl. This woman wanted to take him from her, and she was prepared to fight to keep him.
She said at last, "I don't know what you mean, Selma. Unless you want to know if I'm in love with Carl. I am, of course." She stiffened as Selma rose and stepped down to the tiled floor, not knowing what to expect.
Selma faced her, calmly. "And I suppose you will still be in love with him when I tell you he... killed Fuhrman Wells..."
"That's nonsense, Selma." She understood now. Selma had come to try one more of her apparently inexhaustible bag of tricks. She felt sorry for her, but she couldn't give ground now. "Aren't you being a little childish, Selma? You've lost Carl and you can't get him back, so why not be a good sport about it?"
"You think I haven't been a good sport?" Selma asked in that same lifeless voice. "You think I didn't know he was going out with you regularly when he was telling me repeatedly he was in love with me? Slowly she moved toward the door, peaking as she walked, not looking back. "I'll never see him again. I promise you that. But don't forget—no even now as she opened the door did she look back—don't forget I warned you, Rita. Carl murdered Fuhrman Wells..."
Rita was in bed when she remembered there had been no car at the curb when she and Carl drove up, but it was only when she heard Carl's troubled voice over the phone next morning that the fact seemed important.
